

1853-2003, Cornell College: 150 Years from A to Z

Travel through 150 years of Cornell College history by the letter. Charles J. Milhauser's personal archive of Cornell College history has become a fascinating 26-stop tour of the college, from A to Z. Read all about and be delighted by the oldest Coe-Cornell joke, the lost and found moose, Dilly the Duck, girlsterousness, residence hall named for World War II aircraft carriers, the sacred bucket, and one telephone for 100 women. Discover the story behind the teetotaling professor, the Chicago detective, the local pharmacist, and the sale of alcohol to students. Find out about Peeping Toms, President Magee and the inventions of the parking meter, and the commencement riot of 1803. Explore the saga of the Rock, Abraham Lincoln and Corenells bells, the bishop who secretly courted the lady professor, and the ghost of the piano reputed to be buried on campus. Learn the stories of dead fish and bathroom tissue, the spifflicated lieutenant and the alumna heiress, the jingle that infuriated the student body, and the professor who lived in a chicken coop.
