Not illustrated. 1899 Excerpt: ...object; the Government, in 1831, con-jMh National stituted a Board consisting of distinguished Members of the Churches of England, Board. Scotland and Rome. The Board agreed upon, and drew up, some general maxims of Religion and Morals which were to be taught in every School, agreed to encourage the Pastors of different denominations to give religious instruction to the children of their respective flocks out of School-hours, etcetera; and, in addition, to provide that one day in a week should be set apart for that purpose.f Letter of Lord Stanley, Secretary of State for Ireland, to the Duke of Leinster, October, 1831. + The following is one of these General Lessons, which are hung up in every Irish National School, and required to be taught and explained to all the children. It relates to social duties. Christians should endeavour, as the Apostle Paul commands them, (to live peacably with all men,--(Romans, Chapter xii, verse 18,)--even with those of a different Persuasion. Our Saviour, Christ, commanded His Disciples to love one another. He taught General Lesthem to love even their enemies, to bless those that cursed them, ind to pray for those son of the who persecuted them. He himself prayed for his murderers. Many men hold erroneous Irish National doctrines; but we ought not to hate, or persecute them. We ought to seek for the Board of truth, and hold fast what we are convinced is the truth; but not to treat harshly those Education, that are in error. Jesus Christ did not intend his Religion to be forced on men by violent means. He would not allow his Disciples to fight for him. If any persons treat Scripture Histories.
