

Observations on the Appeal From the New to the Old Whigs, and on Mr. Paines Rights of Man, Vol. 1 of 2: In Two Parts (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Observations on the Appeal From the New to the Old Whigs, and on Mr. Paines Rights of Man, Vol. 1 of 2: In Two Parts Under the shade of an anonymous character, I have perhaps expressed myself with somewhat less reserve of men and things than I might have been inclined to use in my own person; but to reduce this work to a lower and more modest tone, the whole of it must have been cast over again; a disgustful and laborious task; I therefore say with Pilate, what I have written, I have written.
